Dear Hiring Manager,

I am excited to apply for the Temporary Data Analytics Intern position with the University of Chicago Crime Lab and Education Lab. As a senior majoring in Statistics with a minor in Mathematics at the University of Illinois Urbana-Champaign—graduating in May 2025 and set to begin my graduate studies in Fall 2025—I have developed a strong foundation in data cleaning, processing, and statistical analysis. My academic background, combined with my hands-on experience in various research and administrative roles, makes me eager to contribute to your team’s mission of advancing effective and cost-efficient public policies.

In my role as an Undergraduate Course Assistant for STAT107 and STAT443, I supported data-driven learning and assisted with the management of large datasets, ensuring accuracy in data entry, report generation, and presentation of analytical insights. Additionally, my experience as an AI/ML Intern Team Leader allowed me to hone my skills in programming with Python and SQL, where I led projects that required meticulous data manipulation and analysis. I have also completed projects like my Graduation Prediction Model, which involved rigorous data cleaning, feature engineering, and the application of machine learning algorithms to deliver actionable insights. These experiences have instilled in me a keen eye for detail and the ability to communicate complex findings effectively.

I am particularly drawn to this internship because of its focus on applying advanced data analytics to real-world policy challenges. The opportunity to work at the intersection of research, public safety, and education is inspiring, and I am enthusiastic about the chance to contribute to projects that aim to address social inequalities and improve community outcomes. I am confident that my technical skills, academic training, and commitment to public impact align well with the goals of the Crime Lab and Education Lab.

I am available to work full-time (approximately 37.5 to 40 hours per week) and am comfortable engaging in both remote and on-site tasks as needed. Thank you for considering my application. I look forward to the opportunity to discuss how my skills and experiences can contribute to your team’s success.

Sincerely,
